H.E. MADAM DENISE NKURUNZIZA

The First Lady of the Republic of Burundi

S.E. Madame Denise BUCUMI NKURUNZIZA est la Première Dame de la République du Burundi. Elle a effectué sa scolarité à l'ENEFA (Ecole Normale d'Economie Familiale), puis à l'Université Espoir d'Afrique pour sa formation en Théologies. Elle a été ordonnée Révérend Pasteur en 2011. Mère de 5 enfants et de 12 enfants adoptifs, elle a créé en Décembre 2005, une organisation philanthropique dénommée "Fondation BUNTU" qui a pour mission de restaurer l'espoir et la promotion du fonctionnement social en faveur personnes déshéritées (personnes vivant avec le VIH, orphelins et autres enfants vulnérable, veuves, personnes âgées, personnes vivant avec un handicap et autres groupes vulnérable, ce qui lui a valu le surnom de "Maman BUNTU". En plus des actions caritatives ponctuelles, Elle a mis en place un orphelinat dénommé « Umusamariya w'Imababazi » ou « Le Bon Samaritain » pour accueillir les bébés qui ont perdu leurs mamans. Actuellement, cet orphelinat abrite 40 bébés.

Engagée dans un plaidoyer continu auprès du Gouvernement, des Parlementaires, les partenaires techniques et financiers, des leaders administratifs, sanitaires, religieux et communautaires, ses interventions ont permis d'atteindre des performances dans différents domaines au Burundi.

Ses actions sont articulées autour des axes suivants: i) La lutte contre le VIH/SIDA avec un accent sur l'élimination de la transmission du VIH de la mère à l'enfant et la prise en charge pédiatrique du VIH. ii) La réduction de la mortalité maternelle et infantile. S.E. Denise BUCUMI NKURUNZIZA déploie également son énergie dans des actions en rapport avec réduction de la mortalité maternelle et infantile. Alors que jadis, les aspects de santé maternelle et infantile étaient une question dont la gestion était considérée comme une responsabilité de la femme seule selon la culture burundaise, la Première Dame a su impliquer les hommes ; iii) La lutte contre le cancer du col de l'utérus à travers les campagne de mobilisation communautaire des femmes leaders et des jeunes filles de toutes les provinces du pays sur la prévention, le diagnostic précoce et les options de traitement du cancer du col de l'utérus ; iv) La mobilisation des ressources : S.E.

Madame Denise BUCUMI NKURUNZIZA s'implique activement dans la mobilisation des financements pour le Burundi. Ainsi, Elle a mobilisé pour la première fois, 30.000 tests DUO-Syphilis-VIH amenant ainsi le Fonds Mondial et l'UNICEF à commander des stocks additionnels. Elle fournit un soutien nutritionnel (lait thérapeutique) aux nourrissons en situation de grande vulnérabilité car nés de mères séropositives démunies à travers un consortium de 8 structures associatives et publiques qui les prennent en charge. V) Le développement communautaire.

Afin de mener des actions à haut impact et accès sur les résultats, la philosophie de S.E. la Première Dame est d'oeuvrer en synergie avec les autres partenaires tant nationaux qu'internationaux en vue d'une complémentarité dans l'action. Ces partenaires sont principalement le Ministère de la Santé Publique et de la Lutte contre le Sida, l'ONUSIDA, l'UNFPA, l'UNICEF, les autres acteurs de la Société Civile engagées dans la santé en general et la lutte contre le VIH/Sida en particulier.

H.E. MADAM BRIGITTE TOUADERA

The First Lady of Central African Republic

Titulaire d'une Licence en Lettres Anglaises, Madame Brigitte TOUADERA a travaillé comme Assistante Administrative Bilingue au Cabinet de renommée internationale PriceWaterhouseCoopers Centrafrique. Elle s'est ensuite engagée dans le domaine de la santé de la reproduction en affirmant son leadership comme Secrétaire Générale de l'Alliance du Ruban Blanc de Centrafrique », une coalition mondiale de lutte pour une maternité sans risque, soutenue par le Fonds des Nations Unies pour la Population (UNFPA).

Dans ce cadre, elle a étroitement collaboré avec les autorités nationales, provinciales et locales pour leur implication dans la dynamique de la lutte contre la mortalité maternelle et néo-natale, notamment à travers la Campagne pour l'Accélération de la Réduction de la Mortalité Maternelle (CARMA). Par ailleurs, son désir de porter assistance aux populations vulnérables, l'a conduite à travailler comme bénévole au Secours Catholique Caritas international d'Angers en France.

L'engagement de Madame Brigitte TOUADERA, Première Dame de Centrafrique, dans le domaine de l'assistance aux femmes en général et de la santé de la reproduction en particulier est resté constant. Ce qui explique son intérêt à soutenir la Campagne «MERCK plus qu'une mère» en faveur des femmes victimes de violences physiques et psychologique de son pays.

C'est à ce titre, qu'elle a été désignée lors de la réunion de haut niveau de MERCK, à Abidjan en Côte d'Ivoire en octobre 2016 comme Ambassadrice de la Campagne «MERCK plus qu'une Mère» dans les seize pays francophones.

Il est important de souligner que depuis le mois de mai 2016, elle a créé une fondation dénommée « Cri de Cœur d'une Mère » qui œuvre avec beaucoup de réussites dans les domaines de :

- la lutte contre la VIH et le Sida ;
- la santé de la reproduction ;
- les violences basées sur le genre ;
- la lutte contre la drépanocytose.

Quelques actions réalisées :

En octobre 2017, elle a parrainé le lancement du Plan d'Accélération de la prise en charge du VIH chez l'enfant et l'adolescent.

En août 2018, elle a procédé au lancement de la campagne « Santé pour Tous » avec pour slogan « Un corps Sain dans un Esprit Sain ».

Toujours en 2018, avec l'appui financier de l'OIT, la Première Dame à travers sa Fondation a organisé une formation en entreprenariat à l'intention des femmes vulnérables aussi bien de la capitale et que de ses villes périphériques.

H.E. MADAM ANTOINETTE SASSOU-NGUESSO

The First Lady of the Republic of the Congo

Ancienne élève de l'Ecole Normale des jeunes filles de Mouyondzi au Congo, Madame Antoinette SASSOU N'GUESSO est Enseignante de formation. Personnalité attachante et passionnante, cette Dame de cœur a hérité notamment de sa mère, la passion du prochain. Lorsque son époux accède à la magistrature suprême du Congo et de ce fait ne pouvant plus exercer son métier, elle laisse son penchant naturel s'exprimer au profit des plus démunis de notre société. En 1984 naît la Fondation Congo Assistance, navire amiral de son action sociale auprès des personnes vulnérables du Congo. Que ce soit en direction des personnes vivant avec handicap, des jeunes filles déscolarisées, des veuves abandonnées ou des enfants en difficulté scolaire, la Fondation Congo Assistance que préside avec maestria madame Antoinette SASSOU N'GUESSO, a su redonner un peu de chaleur et des sourires.

Depuis 2000, elle a fait de la lutte contre les grandes pandémies notamment le VIH et le SIDA, l'un des axes majeurs de son action. Elle a été parmi l'une des Premières Dames en Afrique, en 2001 précisément, a lancé le projet de lutte contre la transmission du virus de la mère à l'enfant pendant l'accouchement. Membre fondatrice de l'Organisation des Premières Dames d'Afrique contre le Sida (OPDAS), elle a contribué activement aux différents succès de cet organisme et à sa crédibilité auprès de différents partenaires.

En 2003, en compagnie de Madame Viviane WADE, elle s'est lancée dans un grand plaidoyer mondial pour sortir la drépanocytose, première maladie génétique au monde de son anonymat. De Paris à Bruxelles, de New Delhi à Dakar, partout où elle pouvait faire passer ce message, sa voix a résonné avec conviction. Le 22 décembre 2008, ses efforts sont couronnés par l'Assemblée Générale des Nations Unies faisant de la drépanocytose un problème de santé publique et consacrant le 19 juin comme journée mondiale de sensibilisation à la drépanocytose. Dans la foulée elle a fait construire à Brazzaville, le centre sous régional de lutte et de recherche sur la drépanocytose.

Ces succès, ont poussé ses compatriotes à faire d'elle, la Marraine de plusieurs autres combats notamment : les cancers du col de l'utérus et du sein, la réduction de la mortalité maternelle et infantile et la prise en charge des personnes du troisième âge. Pour ce dernier combat, elle a construit par le biais de sa Fondation, la première Maison des Séniors du Congo qui fait la fierté des Brazzavillois.

Ces actions ont conduit les pouvoirs publics congolais à faire de la Fondation Congo Assistance, la première ONG congolaise reconnue d'utilité publique. Depuis 2006, sa fondation à le statut consultatif auprès de l'ECOSOC ONU.

C'est donc à ce titre qu'elle a reçu différentes distinctions honorifiques notamment :

- Commandeur dans l'Ordre du Mérite Congolais
- Commandeur dans l'Ordre de la Solidarité de la Côte d'Ivoire
- Lauréate du Prix Pio Manzu pour la Paix du Président de la République Italienne
- Certificat d'honneur de la Société Africaine d'Hématologie.
- Diplôme d'honneur des Ligues Africaines contre les cancers

H.E. MADAM FATOUMATTA BAH-BARROW

The First Lady of the Republic of The Gambia

The First Lady of the Republic of The Gambia, Her Excellency Fatoumatta Bah Barrow was born on 5th August 1974 in Banjul. Her father, Abdoulie Bah, was a local business man, whereas her mother, Isatou Jallow, was mostly known amongst the community for her compassion and generosity towards the poor and the needy.

From 2000 to 2001, the Her Excellency First Lady worked as a Sales Marketing Agent at an oil company called Elton, and then later worked at a local GSM company named Africell from 2001 to 2008. From 2009, the First Lady was occasionally involved in small business activities and also helped her spouse in his political career debut. As the 2016 presidential elections drew nearer, the First Lady became actively involved in a door to door campaign, seeking support from citizens to vote for her husband, at a time when many feared change, due to circumstances under the former regime.

Such courage and determination for change clearly demonstrated by the First Lady, is a trait that makes her distinct from many others. In an attempt to fulfill the promises made during the vigorous campaign trail, the First Lady wishes to ensure that the people of The Gambia do experience the change that was often envisaged in certain domains.

Therefore, as the First Lady of the Republic, Her Excellency Fatoumatta Bah Barrow instantly became engage in various humanitarian/charitable organization and activities targeted at the most vulnerable groups of society, women and children. The public role she assumed predominantly focuses on providing assistant to all Gambians, with a particular focus on women and children to help enhance their lives by ensuring that they have access to quality education, health and social services.

For this reason, the First Lady makes frequent visits to the country's main referral hospital, the Edward Francis Small Teaching Hospital, making donation of medical equipment and helping facilitate life-saving surgery for newborn babies amongst other. In her determination to address certain challenges, the First Lady also creates linkages with the private sector and foreign partners by encouraging them to invest in the area of health, education and women's empowerment. With such an all -inclusive approach, it is hoped that major improvement will be made these areas.

Where women are concerned, the First Lady wishes to promote gender equality to naturally empower woman and girls through education. In her efforts in the area of education, the First Lady visited several schools including those where school feeding programmes have been introduced which she hopes would be widely practice in all schools in the near future. It is her fervent desire to encourage more children especially girls to enroll in schools to attain formal education.

Her Excellency the First Lady dynamically engaged in addressing peculiar challenges women in The Gambia and other parts of the world face, in an effort to raise awareness and mobilize support necessary for the inclusion of such women in society. She collaborates with various organizations to help break barriers and create opportunities for all women. It is therefore hoped that the areas of health and education amongst others get the support required in terms of medical equipment, training of health personnel, consumables/drugs and all other required materials are obtained.

In the national response to AIDS, the First Lady wishes to embarked upon a vigorous advocacy campaign by providing the necessary support and commitment to ensure that the main challenges faced by health workers, HIV patients and adolescents are addressed or significantly reduced. This will bring about positive change and to instill a sense of a spirit of solidarity and partnership amongst key partners in the national commitment and fight against HIV and AIDS.

In view of the above, in May 2017 the First Lady initiated her foundation entitled 'Fatoumatta Bah-Barrow Foundation – FaBB', in order to pursue her desire to not only bring about change, but to also help save and improve the lives of vulnerable groups of society throughout the country.

Her Excellency the First Lady in August 2018 launched 'Safe Motherhood in the Gambia' and will work with UNFPA and relevant partners as Champion, to restore the dignity of women by promoting their rights sexual and reproductive health by supporting advocacy to government and partners to demonstrate commitment to improving women and girls health by addressing maternal mortality and other issues affecting women such as obstetric fistula, breast and cervical cancer, Gender-Based Violence, including Female Genital Mutilation and Child Marriage in The Gambia. In the same month, she launched the UNICEF Regional project on 'Protection of Children on the Move' and committed to champion and advocate for government and relevant partners to put in place measures for increased protection of children. These measures include supporting awareness and communication activities through dedicated campaigns and the commemoration of the statutory days on the promotion of children rights and child protection, raising awareness among public authorities and populations on child protection, urge stakeholders to take into account the notion of light work or socializing work and strengthen child labour observation and monitoring systems in The Gambia.

H.E. MADAM REBECCA AKUFO-ADDO

The First Lady of the Republic of Ghana

Born on the 12th of March 1951 to Justice Jacob Hackenburg Griffiths-Randolph, Speaker of Parliament in the Third Republic of Ghana and Frances Phillipina Griffiths-Randolph (nee Mann), Rebecca Naa Okaikor Akufo-Addo spent her formative years in Accra, Ghana. She attended Achimota Primary School and Wesley Grammar School in Accra. She continued her education at the Government Secretarial School and subsequently started her career at the Merchant Bank of Ghana. She relocated to the United Kingdom and pursued further education, becoming a legal secretary and going on to work for several prominent multinational law firms, including Clifford Chance and Ashurst Morris Crisp.

She is a passionate philanthropist with a keen interest in issues that impact women and children. She co-founded the charity, Infanta Malaria Prevention Foundation in 2005 to support the national effort to reduce malarial infections in infants and young children. Since 2017, the charity has added the eradication of malnutrition to its scope of work, having recognized the inter-relation between malaria and malnutrition, particularly in children. She has also donated generously to several other causes.

As First Lady she has established The Rebecca Foundation with a focus on the well-being of Ghanaian women and children through the implementation of sustainable, collaborative and high impact strategies. Education of children, the health of women and children and economic empowerment of women are the three main intervention areas under the Rebecca Foundation.

In response to avoidable deaths of women and children as a result of lack of space and inadequate equipment, the First Lady raised funds to construct a mother and baby and Paediatric Intensive Care unit at the second Tertiary health institution in Ghana- the Komfo Anokye Teaching Hospital, in her first year as First Lady. The Rebecca Foundation is also constructing a Paediatric Intensive Care Unit and helping to finance the construction of a hostel for parents of children on cancer treatment at Ghana's premier hospital, the Korle Bu Teaching Hospital, in the capital Accra.

Mrs Rebecca Akufo-Addo is the premier ambassador for HIV/AIDS, in Ghana with a focus on elimination of mother to child transmission and actively works with the Ghana Aids Commission and other partners to ensure Ghana meets all its HIV/AIDS targets. As the West African Chair of the Organization of African First Ladies Against HIV/AIDS (OAFLA), she is a strong advocate for sound adolescent reproductive health and elimination of practices that affect the well-being of adolescents. She is also a patron of the Schools for the Blind and Deaf, Cancer Voices, a coalition of Non-Governmental Organizations against all cancers and is championing interventions to support childhood cancer sufferers and their families.

She is married to the President of the Republic of Ghana, Nana Addo Dankwa Akufo-Addo and they have five daughters and five grandchildren. She loves floristry and also enjoys interior decoration.

H.E. MADAM CONDE DJENE

The First Lady of the Republic of Guinea

Madame Conde Djènè, aujourd’hui Première Dame de la République de Guinée, est née dans la ville sainte de Kankan connue sous le nom de Nabaya.

Elle fit ses études primaires avec brio à l’école Dramé Oumar de Kankan.

Après son admission au CEP, elle Prit la route du Collège Almamy Samory Touré devenu aujourd’hui lycée Almamy Samory Touré pour ses études secondaires.

Son admission au BEPC lui donna encore le goût de poursuivre ses études. Ainsi elle se retrouvera successivement au Lycée 2 Août et 1er Mars à Conakry où elle décrocha le Baccalauréat.

H.E. MADAM FATIMA MAADA BIO

The First Lady of the Republic of Sierra Leone

Sierra Leone First lady, Fatima Maada Bio was born in 27th November 1980 to a Sierra Leonean mother, Tidankay Jabbie and a Gambian father, Umar Jabbie. The First Lady was born in Kono district, Eastern Sierra Leone where her mother hailed and father settled as a businessman. Mrs. Fatima Maada Bio grew up in Kono and attended the Ansarul Islamic school before she completed her secondary education at the St Joseph Convent Secondary School in Freetown.

Mrs. Fatima Maada-Bio later traveled to London where she pursued a Bachelor degrees of Arts with Honors in Performing Art from the Roehampton Institute in London and Bachelor of Arts with honors in Journalism at the University of the Arts, London College of Communication.

The First Lady's degree in Performing Arts propelled her to start a very successful career in the African Film Industry in London and stardom as one of the elegant Nollywood Actresses, scriptwriter and executive producer. Mrs. Fatima Bio wrote and produced the movie, "Battered", which put her on the limelight in the movie industry. Furthermore, Mrs. Bio has received several awards in including;

1. Miss Africa in 2000
2. "Best Supporting Actress" for the movie Mirror Boy
3. In 2011 "Best Actress Award" from the Black Ethnics, Fashion and Film Industry in the UK.
4. In September 2013, Mrs. Fatima Jabbe-Bio was voted the best female actress at the African Oscars in Washington DC, from a list of 32 nominees in Africa People's Choice Best Actress category.
5. Pan-African "Woman of the Year Award" awarded by All African Media based in Ghana.
6. Prestigious Gweses First Lady Honorary Award at the Global Women Economic & Social Empowerment Summit. According to Dr (Mrs) Bola Olabisi FRSA, the award is in recognition of our First Lady's outstanding achievements that impact the socio-economic development and empowerment of women.

Beside her battery of laurels, First Lady Fatima Bio won the Gathering of African Best (GAB) Awards for her exceptional contribution to promoting a positive image of Africans around the world. This is important because her determination to build and motivate in every area goes beyond the shores of Sierra Leone.

Mrs. Fatima Bio, the multiple award winners, is a pioneer of the President's vision of unity, patriotism and hard work to build Sierra Leone for it to be one of the greatest nations in African with positive lives of its citizens.

In 2018 at the United Nations headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, the conference "Girls with no name" is an unapologetic look on the issue of child prostitution in West Africa, using Sierra Leone as a case study.

Mrs. Bio delivered a speech at the conference in tagged "Girls with no name". It was hosted by the United nations at their headquarters in Geneva Switzerland. Mrs. Bio did not mince words and spoke objectively and gave an unapologetic insight on the issue of child prostitution in West Africa. She said sometimes these kids provide for their families through prostitution. This is absolutely not the responsibility of a child, but it is a social reality we face today.

Her prowess and strategy was noticed by the nation during the 2018 elections in Sierra Leone. She took a pro-active role. She was able to broker peace easily amongst warring parties. Her down-to-earth communication skills was not only due to her formal education, but also her affinity with the grassroots.

At the Commonwealth Heads of Government meeting in London, the Queen of England was excited to meet with Africa's newest first Lady. The Queen was impressed with her tenacity in helping to change the perception of the role of women in politics.

In the West Africa sub-region, Mrs. Bio is building personal relations with other First Lady's. She has a unique ability to make people buy into her vision. This is straitened by the fact that she leads by example.

The First Lady has been working tirelessly to put Sierra Leone on the map and also bring out the potential of its citizens. Mrs. Fatima Bio loves children and has been working on realistic short and long term goals that are impacting on the well-being of children across the world. She passionately promotes women rights and equality thus fondly refers to the women of Sierra Leone as "Women of Substance".

In line with the government's vision, First Lady, Mrs. Bio believes education is key. Her philanthropic character is inborn and she is a fantastic role model that leads by example. Her greatest strength is her ability to achieve any goal she sets. Some say it is divine, but people close to her will say it is pure, undiluted hard work, others still will say it is a combination of both divine intervention and hard work
